Economy hits high note

Trump extols the fastest growth in years, but economists doubt the pace can continue.

WASHINGTON — U.S. economy growth jumped in the second quarter, almost to President Donald Trump and Republicans as they seek to make a strong economic case at a time of rate penny-a-share loss, causing die-offs.

Persistent Red Tide taking a toll on turtles

From Sarasota south, the algae has bloomed months past the norm, causing die-offs.

Tampa Bay Times
FLORIDA'S BEST NEWSPAPER
tampabay.com
SATURDAY, JULY 28, 2018 $1

SOUTH KOREA
PRECIOUS CARGO
FINALLY RETURNS

A U.N. honor guard carries a box containing remains believed to be from American servicemen killed during the Korean War on Friday at Osan Air Base in Pyeongtaek, South Korea. The U.S. Command said the 35 cases of war remains retrieved from North Korea will be honored at a ceremony Wednesday at a base in South Korea. The return of the remains brings back memories for some local families.

Read more about that story on 2A.

Scott paperwork sets worth at $255M

A majority of the holdings listed in the Senate campaign financial statement are in Ann Scott’s name.

ECONOMY

Trump extols the fastest growth in years, but economists doubt the pace can continue.

WASHINGTON — U.S. economy growth jumped in the second quarter, almost to President
Donald Trump and Republicans as they seek to make a strong
economic case at a time of rate
penny-a-share loss, causing
die-offs.

The economy expanded at an annualized rate of 4.1 percent from April to June, the fastest growth since the third quarter of 2014 and a sharp jump from the first three months of the year, the Commerce Department said.

“We are on track to hit an annual GDP growth of about 3 percent,” Trump said.

Most independent econoists say this quarter's growth was fueled by stimulus from the trillion-dollar tax cut and a one-time rush by foreign companies to stock up on U.S. goods before Trump's trade war escalated and tariffs kicked in on many products. Consumer spending was also solid.

But the widespread expectation is that this growth will be significantly lower in the third and fourth quarter, probably falling short of Trump's 3 percent goal for 2018.

“The bottom line takeaway is that this growth is not sustainable and it will slow in the second half of the year,” said Mark Zandi, chief economist
for Moody’s Analytics.

Economy hit by high note

Trump extols the fastest growth in years, but economists doubt the pace can continue.

WASHINGTON — U.S. econ-
y growth jumped in the second quarter, almost to President
Donald Trump and Republicans as they seek to make a strong
economic case at a time of rate
penny-a-share loss, causing
die-offs.

The economy expanded at an
annualized rate of 4.1 percent from April to June, the fastest growth since the third quarter of 2014 and a sharp jump from the first three months of the year, the Commerce Department said.

“We are on track to hit an
annual GDP growth of about 3 percent,” Trump said.

Most independent econo-
ists say this quarter's growth was
fueled by stimulus from the
trillion-dollar tax cut and a one-
time rush by foreign companies
to stock up on U.S. goods before Trump's trade war escalated and
tariffs kicked in on many products. Consumer spending was also solid.

But the widespread expectation is that this growth will be significantly lower in the third and
fourth quarter, probably falling
short of Trump's 3 percent goal for 2018.

“The bottom line takeaway is that this growth is not sustainable and
it will slow in the second half of the year,” said
Mark Zandi, chief economist
for Moody’s Analytics.

Economy hits high note

Trump extols the fastest growth in years, but economists doubt the pace can continue.

WASHINGTON — U.S. econ-
y growth jumped in the second quarter, almost to President
Donald Trump and Republicans as they seek to make a strong
economic case at a time of rate
penny-a-share loss, causing
die-offs.

The economy expanded at an
annualized rate of 4.1 percent from April to June, the fastest growth since the third quarter of 2014 and a sharp jump from the first three months of the year, the Commerce Department said.

“We are on track to hit an
annual GDP growth of about 3 percent,” Trump said.

Most independent econo-
ists say this quarter's growth was
fueled by stimulus from the
trillion-dollar tax cut and a one-
time rush by foreign companies
to stock up on U.S. goods before Trump's trade war escalated and
tariffs kicked in on many products. Consumer spending was also solid.

But the widespread expectation is that this growth will be significantly lower in the third and
fourth quarter, probably falling
short of Trump's 3 percent goal for 2018.

“The bottom line takeaway is that this growth is not sustainable and
it will slow in the second half of the year,” said
Mark Zandi, chief economist
for Moody’s Analytics.

Economy hits high note

Trump extols the fastest growth in years, but economists doubt the pace can continue.

WASHINGTON — U.S. econ-
y growth jumped in the second quarter, almost to President
Donald Trump and Republicans as they seek to make a strong
economic case at a time of rate
penny-a-share loss, causing
die-offs.

The economy expanded at an
annualized rate of 4.1 percent from April to June, the fastest growth since the third quarter of 2014 and a sharp jump from the first three months of the year, the Commerce Department said.

“We are on track to hit an
annual GDP growth of about 3 percent,” Trump said.

Most independent econo-
ists say this quarter's growth was
fueled by stimulus from the
trillion-dollar tax cut and a one-
time rush by foreign companies
to stock up on U.S. goods before Trump's trade war escalated and
tariffs kicked in on many products. Consumer spending was also solid.

But the widespread expectation is that this growth will be significantly lower in the third and
fourth quarter, probably falling
short of Trump's 3 percent goal for 2018.

“The bottom line takeaway is that this growth is not sustainable and
it will slow in the second half of the year,” said
Mark Zandi, chief economist
for Moody’s Analytics.

Economy hits high note

Trump extols the fastest growth in years, but economists doubt the pace can continue.

WASHINGTON — U.S. econ-
y growth jumped in the second quarter, almost to President
Donald Trump and Republicans as they seek to make a strong
economic case at a time of rate
penny-a-share loss, causing
die-offs.

The economy expanded at an
annualized rate of 4.1 percent from April to June, the fastest growth since the third quarter of 2014 and a sharp jump from the first three months of the year, the Commerce Department said.

“We are on track to hit an
annual GDP growth of about 3 percent,” Trump said.

Most independent econo-
ists say this quarter's growth was
fueled by stimulus from the
trillion-dollar tax cut and a one-
time rush by foreign companies
to stock up on U.S. goods before Trump's trade war escalated and
tariffs kicked in on many products. Consumer spending was also solid.

But the widespread expectation is that this growth will be significantly lower in the third and
fourth quarter, probably falling
short of Trump's 3 percent goal for 2018.

“The bottom line takeaway is that this growth is not sustainable and
it will slow in the second half of the year,” said
Mark Zandi, chief economist
for Moody’s Analytics.