WASHINGTON — The Senate voted to acquit former President Trump in his second impeachment trial after just 57 of the 100 senators, including 48 Republicans, cast ballots to convict him of inciting the Jan. 6 attack on the U.S. Capitol. The vote was 57-43. In the end, Republicans who had once been his staunchest supporters voted to join Democrats in acquitting Trump despite voting to acquit him in 2020.

More than a dozen senators who had voted with Trump in 2020, including Senate Republican leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky, nonetheless voted to acquit Trump despite his leading a mob to storm the Capitol, which left five dead and 140 injured.

Some 1,590 staff and managers have left the agency, and some Montgomery County residents said they will start looking for jobs at other state agencies.

“The Capitol was in chaos,” said Montgomery County Administrator John F. Harrell, who oversees the agency’s operations. “People were screaming and panicking.”

WASHINGTON — The Senate voted to acquit former President Trump on Saturday in its second impeachment trial against him, with 57 senators, including 48 Republicans, voting to acquit him.

The vote was 57-43 in the end, with Republicans who had once been his staunchest supporters voting to join Democrats in acquitting Trump despite voting to acquit him in 2020.

More than a dozen senators who had voted with Trump in 2020, including Senate Republican leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky, nonetheless voted to acquit Trump despite his leading a mob to storm the Capitol, which left five dead and 140 injured.

Some 1,590 staff and managers have left the agency, and some Montgomery County residents said they will start looking for jobs at other state agencies.

“The Capitol was in chaos,” said Montgomery County Administrator John F. Harrell, who oversees the agency’s operations. “People were screaming and panicking.”

WASHINGTON — On Saturday, the Senate voted to acquit former President Trump in his second impeachment trial against him, with 57 senators, including 48 Republicans, voting to acquit him.

The vote was 57-43 in the end, with Republicans who had once been his staunchest supporters voting to join Democrats in acquitting Trump despite voting to acquit him in 2020.

More than a dozen senators who had voted with Trump in 2020, including Senate Republican leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky, nonetheless voted to acquit Trump despite his leading a mob to storm the Capitol, which left five dead and 140 injured.

Some 1,590 staff and managers have left the agency, and some Montgomery County residents said they will start looking for jobs at other state agencies.

“The Capitol was in chaos,” said Montgomery County Administrator John F. Harrell, who oversees the agency’s operations. “People were screaming and panicking.”

WASHINGTON — The Senate voted to acquit former President Trump on Saturday in its second impeachment trial against him, with 57 senators, including 48 Republicans, voting to acquit him.

The vote was 57-43 in the end, with Republicans who had once been his staunchest supporters voting to join Democrats in acquitting Trump despite voting to acquit him in 2020.

More than a dozen senators who had voted with Trump in 2020, including Senate Republican leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky, nonetheless voted to acquit Trump despite his leading a mob to storm the Capitol, which left five dead and 140 injured.

Some 1,590 staff and managers have left the agency, and some Montgomery County residents said they will start looking for jobs at other state agencies.

“The Capitol was in chaos,” said Montgomery County Administrator John F. Harrell, who oversees the agency’s operations. “People were screaming and panicking.”

WASHINGTON — The Senate voted to acquit former President Trump on Saturday in its second impeachment trial against him, with 57 senators, including 48 Republicans, voting to acquit him.

The vote was 57-43 in the end, with Republicans who had once been his staunchest supporters voting to join Democrats in acquitting Trump despite voting to acquit him in 2020.

More than a dozen senators who had voted with Trump in 2020, including Senate Republican leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky, nonetheless voted to acquit Trump despite his leading a mob to storm the Capitol, which left five dead and 140 injured.

Some 1,590 staff and managers have left the agency, and some Montgomery County residents said they will start looking for jobs at other state agencies.

“The Capitol was in chaos,” said Montgomery County Administrator John F. Harrell, who oversees the agency’s operations. “People were screaming and panicking.”

WASHINGTON — On Saturday, the Senate voted to acquit former President Trump in his second impeachment trial against him, with 57 senators, including 48 Republicans, voting to acquit him.

The vote was 57-43 in the end, with Republicans who had once been his staunchest supporters voting to join Democrats in acquitting Trump despite voting to acquit him in 2020.

More than a dozen senators who had voted with Trump in 2020, including Senate Republican leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky, nonetheless voted to acquit Trump despite his leading a mob to storm the Capitol, which left five dead and 140 injured.

Some 1,590 staff and managers have left the agency, and some Montgomery County residents said they will start looking for jobs at other state agencies.

“The Capitol was in chaos,” said Montgomery County Administrator John F. Harrell, who oversees the agency’s operations. “People were screaming and panicking.”

WASHINGTON — The Senate voted to acquit former President Trump on Saturday in its second impeachment trial against him, with 57 senators, including 48 Republicans, voting to acquit him.

The vote was 57-43 in the end, with Republicans who had once been his staunchest supporters voting to join Democrats in acquitting Trump despite voting to acquit him in 2020.

More than a dozen senators who had voted with Trump in 2020, including Senate Republican leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky, nonetheless voted to acquit Trump despite his leading a mob to storm the Capitol, which left five dead and 140 injured.

Some 1,590 staff and managers have left the agency, and some Montgomery County residents said they will start looking for jobs at other state agencies.

“The Capitol was in chaos,” said Montgomery County Administrator John F. Harrell, who oversees the agency’s operations. “People were screaming and panicking.”

WASHINGTON — The Senate voted to acquit former President Trump on Saturday in its second impeachment trial against him, with 57 senators, including 48 Republicans, voting to acquit him.

The vote was 57-43 in the end, with Republicans who had once been his staunchest supporters voting to join Democrats in acquitting Trump despite voting to acquit him in 2020.

More than a dozen senators who had voted with Trump in 2020, including Senate Republican leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky, nonetheless voted to acquit Trump despite his leading a mob to storm the Capitol, which left five dead and 140 injured.

Some 1,590 staff and managers have left the agency, and some Montgomery County residents said they will start looking for jobs at other state agencies.

“The Capitol was in chaos,” said Montgomery County Administrator John F. Harrell, who oversees the agency’s operations. “People were screaming and panicking.”

WASHINGTON — The Senate voted to acquit former President Trump on Saturday in its second impeachment trial against him, with 57 senators, including 48 Republicans, voting to acquit him.

The vote was 57-43 in the end, with Republicans who had once been his staunchest supporters voting to join Democrats in acquitting Trump despite voting to acquit him in 2020.

More than a dozen senators who had voted with Trump in 2020, including Senate Republican leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky, nonetheless voted to acquit Trump despite his leading a mob to storm the Capitol, which left five dead and 140 injured.

Some 1,590 staff and managers have left the agency, and some Montgomery County residents said they will start looking for jobs at other state agencies.

“The Capitol was in chaos,” said Montgomery County Administrator John F. Harrell, who oversees the agency’s operations. “People were screaming and panicking.”

WASHINGTON — The Senate voted to acquit former President Trump on Saturday in its second impeachment trial against him, with 57 senators, including 48 Republicans, voting to acquit him.

The vote was 57-43 in the end, with Republicans who had once been his staunchest supporters voting to join Democrats in acquitting Trump despite voting to acquit him in 2020.

More than a dozen senators who had voted with Trump in 2020, including Senate Republican leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky, nonetheless voted to acquit Trump despite his leading a mob to storm the Capitol, which left five dead and 140 injured.

Some 1,590 staff and managers have left the agency, and some Montgomery County residents said they will start looking for jobs at other state agencies.

“The Capitol was in chaos,” said Montgomery County Administrator John F. Harrell, who oversees the agency’s operations. “People were screaming and panicking.”