North Korean hackers indicted

By Amin a Khan

Perseverance is set to land and seek whether microbes might have lived on another world.

 analysts fear staged car breakdowns, rail track sit-ins and strikes will rock U.S. commerce.

ient authorities announced Wednesday. The hackers were working for a North Korean military agency, the Reconnaissance General Bureau, and were fired after they were caught by North Korean authorities.

east on intermediate, small satellites, so we had a very small footprint.

o other world.

In Myanmar, post-coup dissent against generals takes creativity

By David Pashman, Sharon Ellman and Andrew Schlesinger

A CROWD gathers near Sula Phyu in Yangon to de-cry the coup that started Myanmar’s elected leader.

A A LITTLE JAB WILL DO YOU

Panorama Middle School teacher Aung Htoon gives a COVID-19 shot from nurse practitioners. Aung Cho at L.A. Unified gave out the first 300 doses of the vaccine to employees. CALIFORNIA, B1

BUSINESS INSIDE: A state measure would ban all fracking in California by 2027.

By Dorany Pineda

The GOP had just taken back the chamber for the first time in decades and freshman Mitt Romney, then speaker of the House of Representatives, was so mired in the fiery radio personality that he and other shows "are angry. They want to go out and flip it.

$600 payments to low-income residents are part of $9.6 billion in federal funds.

By Patrick McGreevy

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislators announced Wednesday that they have agreed to provide low-income residents a $600 state stimulus payment as part of a $9.6 billion economic recovery package that also includes $2.1 billion in grants to small businesses.

The soundtrack of Griffith Park

Californian Ellen Fullman lays out a musical map of the Los Angeles urban environment in her new project, CALIFORNIA, B1

Choosing an array of cyberattacks to steal and extort more than $1 billion, spread across banks, other companies and cryptocurrency exchanges.

A9

The victims included Sony Pictures Entertainment Inc. Embezzlement lawsuits due to Sony executives were made public in 2014, shortly after revelations of a hacking attack. Investigators are accused of having a hand in the incursion as well.

Beyond the Sony attack, sanctions have been charged in Los Angeles with conspiring to hack the studio's release of "The Interview," a comedy filmed that depicted the fictional assassination of Kim Jong Un, the country's leader. Kim Jong Un, who was charged with the Sony attack in 2014, is said to have provided them with the tools and ringleaders.

$2.75

Facts and figures from the movie industry

Tens of seemingly desperate, raised hands appeared at major intersections throughout the city, blocking traffic in every direction. When prodded by passersby, owners of the vehicles shrugged and looked uneasy, perhaps more concerned with an empty gas tank than answers.

"The Interview" is a comedy film that depicted the fictional assassination of Kim Jong Un. One of the accused hackers, Park, was charged with the Sony attack in 2014, and now the other two men are accused of having a hand in the incursion as well.

Scores of seemingly desperate, raised hands appeared at major intersections throughout the city, blocking traffic in every direction. When prodded by passersby, owners of the vehicles shrugged and looked uneasy, perhaps more concerned with an empty gas tank than answers.

After the Sony attack, more than answers.

"The Interview" is a comedy film that depicted the fictional assassination of Kim Jong Un. One of the accused hackers, Park, was charged with the Sony attack in 2014, and now the other two men are accused of having a hand in the incursion as well.

Scores of seemingly desperate, raised hands appeared at major intersections throughout the city, blocking traffic in every direction. When prodded by passersby, owners of the vehicles shrugged and looked uneasy, perhaps more concerned with an empty gas tank than answers.

After the Sony attack, more than answers.

"The Interview" is a comedy film that depicted the fictional assassination of Kim Jong Un. One of the accused hackers, Park, was charged with the Sony attack in 2014, and now the other two men are accused of having a hand in the incursion as well.