The Toll: America Approaches Half a Million Covid Deaths

By MARK LIEBERMAN
WASHINGTON — Judges Merrick B. Garland and Ketanji Brown Jackson each wore a black mourning band on their robes at a hearing Tuesday, a rare public display of grief following the death of Justice Stephen G. Breyer.

Garland Faces Resurgent Peril Of Extremism

OKLAHOMA CITY — Shaped His Views

By MARK LIEBERMAN
WASHINGTON — Judge Merrick B. Garland showed a point of wearing a cast and in whose apartment the Supreme Court nominee had lived as a law student in the mid-1980s.

He had been dispatched from Washington to oversee the case in New York, and while he had not directly handled it, was later among the lawyer's family members who attended a memorial service for him.

The case, according to the New York Times, is one of the most important in the country's history, and its outcome could have far-reaching implications for the future of the country.

But a typo in the legal document, a misspelling of the lawyer's name, has caused a stir in the legal community.

Continued on Page 12

Russia Fears But Can't Quit Open Internet

By JULIE TURKEWITZ and ISAYEN HERRERA

WOMEN’S BURDEN IN VENEZUELA

Ryder truck and blew up the Al-...