FAMILIES OF THOUSANDS MISSING IN MEXICO SEEK ANSWERS

Parent groups have collectively located bodies of 109 in Baja Calif. so far this year

BY WENDY FRY

Brennan Daniel Ramirez Hernández was last seen on a Tijuana street corner where he was smoking a cigarette in September 2014, his family says. His remains were never found. But the search for him and other thousands of young people who disappeared in Mexico continues.

The most high-profile case was the disappearance of 43 students from the Ayotzinapa Rural teachers’ college in southern Mexico in September 2014, the group said.

Instead, the abrupt and often violent responses of the cartel leader who allegedly ordered the crime, according to Mexico’s attorney general, endangered the character of San Diego and the state, the state, and the state.

Coronavirus

Two students lacking in online learning

Kindergartener, high school senior begin virtual school journey

BY DEBORAH SULLIVAN

When the coronavirus pandemic shuttered schools last spring, teachers and families became familiar with a new, if temporary, environment: distance learning.

During the pandemic, students attending schools have more freedom of choice in their education. Richfield students attending Richfield Community School have opportunities to participate in a variety of enrichment activities, including music, art, and technology. Additionally, Richfield offers a range of extracurricular activities, such as the Richfield Science Fair, the Richfield Robotics Club, and the Richfield Drama Club.

FAMILIES OF THOUSANDS MISSING IN MEXICO SEEK ANSWERS

Parent groups have collectively located bodies of 109 in Baja Calif. so far this year

BY WENDY FRY

Brennan Daniel Ramirez Hernández was last seen on a Tijuana street corner where he was smoking a cigarette in September 2014, his family says. His remains were never found. But the search for him and other thousands of young people who disappeared in Mexico continues.

The most high-profile case was the disappearance of 43 students from the Ayotzinapa Rural teachers’ college in southern Mexico in September 2014, the group said.

Instead, the abrupt and often violent responses of the cartel leader who allegedly ordered the crime, according to Mexico’s attorney general, endangered the character of San Diego and the state, the state, and the state.

Coronavirus

Two students lacking in online learning

Kindergartener, high school senior begin virtual school journey

BY DEBORAH SULLIVAN

When the coronavirus pandemic shuttered schools last spring, teachers and families became familiar with a new, if temporary, environment: distance learning.

During the pandemic, students attending schools have more freedom of choice in their education. Richfield students attending Richfield Community School have opportunities to participate in a variety of enrichment activities, including music, art, and technology. Additionally, Richfield offers a range of extracurricular activities, such as the Richfield Science Fair, the Richfield Robotics Club, and the Richfield Drama Club.

FAMILIES OF THOUSANDS MISSING IN MEXICO SEEK ANSWERS

Parent groups have collectively located bodies of 109 in Baja Calif. so far this year

BY WENDY FRY

Brennan Daniel Ramirez Hernández was last seen on a Tijuana street corner where he was smoking a cigarette in September 2014, his family says. His remains were never found. But the search for him and other thousands of young people who disappeared in Mexico continues.

The most high-profile case was the disappearance of 43 students from the Ayotzinapa Rural teachers’ college in southern Mexico in September 2014, the group said.

Instead, the abrupt and often violent responses of the cartel leader who allegedly ordered the crime, according to Mexico’s attorney general, endangered the character of San Diego and the state, the state, and the state.

Coronavirus

Two students lacking in online learning

Kindergartener, high school senior begin virtual school journey

BY DEBORAH SULLIVAN

When the coronavirus pandemic shuttered schools last spring, teachers and families became familiar with a new, if temporary, environment: distance learning.

During the pandemic, students attending schools have more freedom of choice in their education. Richfield students attending Richfield Community School have opportunities to participate in a variety of enrichment activities, including music, art, and technology. Additionally, Richfield offers a range of extracurricular activities, such as the Richfield Science Fair, the Richfield Robotics Club, and the Richfield Drama Club.

FAMILIES OF THOUSANDS MISSING IN MEXICO SEEK ANSWERS

Parent groups have collectively located bodies of 109 in Baja Calif. so far this year

BY WENDY FRY

Brennan Daniel Ramirez Hernández was last seen on a Tijuana street corner where he was smoking a cigarette in September 2014, his family says. His remains were never found. But the search for him and other thousands of young people who disappeared in Mexico continues.

The most high-profile case was the disappearance of 43 students from the Ayotzinapa Rural teachers’ college in southern Mexico in September 2014, the group said.

Instead, the abrupt and often violent responses of the cartel leader who allegedly ordered the crime, according to Mexico’s attorney general, endangered the character of San Diego and the state, the state, and the state.

Coronavirus

Two students lacking in online learning

Kindergartener, high school senior begin virtual school journey

BY DEBORAH SULLIVAN

When the coronavirus pandemic shuttered schools last spring, teachers and families became familiar with a new, if temporary, environment: distance learning.

During the pandemic, students attending schools have more freedom of choice in their education. Richfield students attending Richfield Community School have opportunities to participate in a variety of enrichment activities, including music, art, and technology. Additionally, Richfield offers a range of extracurricular activities, such as the Richfield Science Fair, the Richfield Robotics Club, and the Richfield Drama Club.

FAMILIES OF THOUSANDS MISSING IN MEXICO SEEK ANSWERS

Parent groups have collectively located bodies of 109 in Baja Calif. so far this year

BY WENDY FRY

Brennan Daniel Ramirez Hernández was last seen on a Tijuana street corner where he was smoking a cigarette in September 2014, his family says. His remains were never found. But the search for him and other thousands of young people who disappeared in Mexico continues.

The most high-profile case was the disappearance of 43 students from the Ayotzinapa Rural teachers’ college in southern Mexico in September 2014, the group said.

Instead, the abrupt and often violent responses of the cartel leader who allegedly ordered the crime, according to Mexico’s attorney general, endangered the character of San Diego and the state, the state, and the state.

Coronavirus

Two students lacking in online learning

Kindergartener, high school senior begin virtual school journey

BY DEBORAH SULLIVAN

When the coronavirus pandemic shuttered schools last spring, teachers and families became familiar with a new, if temporary, environment: distance learning.

During the pandemic, students attending schools have more freedom of choice in their education. Richfield students attending Richfield Community School have opportunities to participate in a variety of enrichment activities, including music, art, and technology. Additionally, Richfield offers a range of extracurricular activities, such as the Richfield Science Fair, the Richfield Robotics Club, and the Richfield Drama Club.

FAMILIES OF THOUSANDS MISSING IN MEXICO SEEK ANSWERS

Parent groups have collectively located bodies of 109 in Baja Calif. so far this year

BY WENDY FRY

Brennan Daniel Ramirez Hernández was last seen on a Tijuana street corner where he was smoking a cigarette in September 2014, his family says. His remains were never found. But the search for him and other thousands of young people who disappeared in Mexico continues.

The most high-profile case was the disappearance of 43 students from the Ayotzinapa Rural teachers’ college in southern Mexico in September 2014, the group said.

Instead, the abrupt and often violent responses of the cartel leader who allegedly ordered the crime, according to Mexico’s attorney general, endangered the character of San Diego and the state, the state, and the state.

Coronavirus

Two students lacking in online learning

Kindergartener, high school senior begin virtual school journey

BY DEBORAH SULLIVAN

When the coronavirus pandemic shuttered schools last spring, teachers and families became familiar with a new, if temporary, environment: distance learning.

During the pandemic, students attending schools have more freedom of choice in their education. Richfield students attending Richfield Community School have opportunities to participate in a variety of enrichment activities, including music, art, and technology. Additionally, Richfield offers a range of extracurricular activities, such as the Richfield Science Fair, the Richfield Robotics Club, and the Richfield Drama Club.

FAMILIES OF THOUSANDS MISSING IN MEXICO SEEK ANSWERS

Parent groups have collectively located bodies of 109 in Baja Calif. so far this year

BY WENDY FRY

Brennan Daniel Ramirez Hernández was last seen on a Tijuana street corner where he was smoking a cigarette in September 2014, his family says. His remains were never found. But the search for him and other thousands of young people who disappeared in Mexico continues.

The most high-profile case was the disappearance of 43 students from the Ayotzinapa Rural teachers’ college in southern Mexico in September 2014, the group said.

Instead, the abrupt and often violent responses of the cartel leader who allegedly ordered the crime, according to Mexico’s attorney general, endangered the character of San Diego and the state, the state, and the state.

Coronavirus

Two students lacking in online learning

Kindergartener, high school senior begin virtual school journey

BY DEBORAH SULLIVAN

When the coronavirus pandemic shuttered schools last spring, teachers and families became familiar with a new, if temporary, environment: distance learning.

During the pandemic, students attending schools have more freedom of choice in their education. Richfield students attending Richfield Community School have opportunities to participate in a variety of enrichment activities, including music, art, and technology. Additionally, Richfield offers a range of extracurricular activities, such as the Richfield Science Fair, the Richfield Robotics Club, and the Richfield Drama Club.