The teachers have returned to their classrooms readying for the 2008-09 school year in SAU 9. The students are soon to follow, kicking off another school year on Tuesday morning.

While there are no new schools opening this year, some have received a face-lift while others will spend a period of time under construction this fall.

A two-year renovation has been completed at the Kennett Middle School, which was also the high school up until last year. Students, faculty and visitors are sure to be impressed with what they see within the Conway Village school's walls.

"I'm so jealous I'm not there either as a teacher or as a student," Kelley Murphy, of the Conway School Board, said Tues-

Fryeburg NAPA back in business at new location after July fire

By CASEY CONLEY
THE CONWAY DAILY SUN

FRYEBURG — Less than a month after an overnight fire destroyed the NAPA auto parts store in Fryeburg Village, the store has reopened in a new, permanent home less than a mile away.

The new store, located in the old Northland Shoe Shop building on Route 302 west of Fryeburg Village, officially opened last Friday to begin supplying auto repair businesses across the valley. The retail end of the business is still a work in progress.

"We've got the lobby tile down, the walls and ceilings painted, and the lights are coming in next week," said co-owner Chris Canfield by phone on Tuesday.

"The lobby won't be set up for a few weeks.
