

Khadafy's brutal end

Moammar Khadafy

► Arab world: Reformers heartened.
 ► Timeline: Khadafy's life. A16
 ► Obama: His policies get boost. A17

Libya's dictator killed after chaotic capture

By Anthony Shadid, Kareem Fahim and Rick Gladstone
 NEW YORK TIMES

MISRATA, Libya — Moammar Khadafy's last moments Thursday were as violent as the uprising that overthrew him. In a cell-phone video that went viral on the Internet, the deposed Libyan leader is seen splayed on the hood of a truck and then stumbling amid a frenzied crowd, seemingly begging for mercy. He is next seen on the ground, with fighters grab-

Khadafy continues on A16

Amru Salahuddin / Xinhua / Zuma Press / MCT

Libyans celebrate in Tripoli on hearing the news that longtime ruler Moammar Khadafy had been captured and killed by revolutionary fighters near his hometown and last stronghold of Sirte.

SFGATE.COM | Friday, October 21, 2011 | PRINTED ON RECYCLED PAPER

San Francisco Chronicle

California's Best Large Newspaper AS NAMED BY THE CALIFORNIA NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION | $1.00 ★★★★★

Cap-and-trade plan is a go

California's 'model' program ready to start on Jan. 1

By Wyatt Buchanan
 CHRONICLE SACRAMENTO BUREAU

SACRAMENTO — California's plan to cap greenhouse gas emissions and put a price on carbon is set to take effect on Jan. 1 after the Air Resources Board voted Thursday to make final adjustments in the regulation. The state board first passed the cap-and-trade program last December. But the board, which normally allows its staff to finalize details, took the unusual step of personally tying up the loose ends of the nation's only comprehensive limit on greenhouse gases. It is the last major regulation the board considered to meet the requirements of AB32, California's greenhouse gas reduction law passed by the Legislature in 2006. The law requires the state to reduce carbon dioxide emissions to 1990 levels by 2020. The cap-and-trade element covers

Emissions continues on A15

EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS

Lea Suzuki / The Chronicle

2 quakes rattle area after drill

S.F. Mayor Ed Lee, Fire Chief Joanne Hayes-White and William Cobb Elementary students brace for a mock quake as part of the Great California ShakeOut emergency-preparedness drill. Its importance was evident hours later when a 4.0 temblor centered in Berkeley shook up the Bay Area at 2:41 p.m. on the Hayward Fault. A second quake, a 3.8, struck at 8:16 p.m., the U.S. Geological Survey said. Story, C7

HEALTH

Food logos could aid decisions on nutrition

By Carolyn Lochhead
 CHRONICLE WASHINGTON BUREAU

WASHINGTON — In an effort to contain epidemic obesity, the Institute of Medicine on Thursday recommended a new logo for the front of all packaged food sold in grocery stores that would give consumers a quick assessment of its nutrition value, similar to the Energy Star rating on appliances.

The report, two years in the making, calls for a "fundamental shift in strategy" on food packaging that would go beyond providing nutrition information to actually encouraging people to eat better.

"People are so busy and there are so many products to choose from. If there is a system that could very quickly, almost instantly, identify which foods are healthier in terms of reducing chronic disease risk for children and adults, it could really help," said Mary Story, a public health professor at the University of Minnesota

Labels continues on A14

► Fattest kids: Mexico also fighting obesity. A3

PUBLIC ART

Coit Tower murals need touch-up

By Stephanie Lee
 CHRONICLE STAFF WRITER

The tired, poor and huddled masses of Coit Tower are looking especially downtrodden these days.

One of the San Francisco landmark's most beloved features is its series of murals from the Great Depression. Under the New Deal, a group of artists covered the walls with portraits of California's farmworkers, city slickers and hungry families.

But water spots, gashed surfaces, and wear and tear have marred the frescoes. Now city agencies are struggling to

Murals continues on A14

Brant Ward / The Chronicle

A section of a door at Coit Tower has chunks of plaster missing. Tour guides let officials know the tower's murals need repair.

Only in The Chronicle
 ► Stories with this logo in today's Chronicle can be found only in The Chronicle's print edition, e-edition and new iPad app. Download the app at www.sfgate.com/ipad, and buy e-editions at www.sfgate.com/ZKFB.

Index
Autos.....	F1
Bay Area.....	C1
Business.....	D1
Classified.....	E7
Datebook.....	E1
Editorials.....	A19
Legal Notices..	D5
Lottery.....	A2
Market Report..	D4
Movies.....	E5
Obituaries.....	C6
Pets.....	E7
Sports.....	B1
Television.....	E2
Theater.....	E2

Weather
 Morning clouds; sunny afternoon.
 Highs: 65-81.
 Lows 49-59. B8

Art is community
 What role does art play in the economic health of a city?

Through direct and indirect spending, Academy of Art University significantly contributes to the local and regional economy. In 2010, AAU paid approximately $1 million in payroll taxes to San Francisco. During that same period, the Academy paid approximately $3 million for property taxes. Each year, AAU generates close to $291 million in economic benefits in San Francisco and $512 million in economic benefits in the nine-county Bay Area.

Visit www.academyart.edu to learn about total costs, median student loan debt, potential occupations and other information.

"Our universities are invaluable to the Bay Area economy, not only in terms of professional development, but also through the different taxes we pay."

— Mary Camin
 Dean, Schools of Accounting and Taxation
 Golden Gate University

ACADEMY of ART UNIVERSITY
 FOUNDED IN SAN FRANCISCO 1929
 BY ARTISTS FOR ARTISTS