A large crowd of spectators gathered on the Chardon square on March 6 for the dedication ceremony of the sculpture designed by Chardon native Matthew Allen

The elaborate sculpture highlights the city's rich maple heritage and is located near the newly constructed Heritage House.

It encompasses several core characteristics of the Chardon community and is entitled "Com-

"The great thing about it is that it represents the community from the ground up," Albright said. "It's dedicated during the tapping, something that the community resonates with. It was funded by the community and will be here for decades.

I just want the donors that remain nameless to know if it wasn't for those who stepped up to say we can see this being a good addition to the city, we wouldn't be here today and I am grateful for their investment."

The 8- foot sculpture is carved in the shape of a maple tree and has three imperative parts.

Lake Humane Society fundraiser a success

By Tawana Roberts

The Lake Humane Society held its 6th Annual Rescue Rock Off fundraiser on March 6 at the Willoughby Brewing Company.

It featured live music from five local bands; an all-you-caneat buffet; an auction with an assortment of prizes; a 50/50 raffle with two chances to win hundreds of dollars and a variety of door prizes.

Pre-sale tickets were $20 and $25 at the door.

Lake Humane Society Director of Community Outreach and Development Mandy Osborne says their goal was to raise $15,000.

"All of the money raised today will benefit the animals whether it's in food, water, supplies, shelter or our humane investigations department where we fight animal cruelty and neglect, all of the proceeds will benefit the resources and services we provide," Osborne said. "Of course raising money is the biggest piece, but also what's important is raising awareness and getting in touch with our community showing them what we're doing and getting them even more involved than they already are.'
