DEPTH: BUSINESS AND TECHNOLOGY

WITH ONLINE SHOPPING OPTIONS, GROCERS TESTING TREASURE VALLEY

At a few area locations, Albertsons, Fred Meyer and Wal-Mart have rolled out a service accepting website and mobile app orders. The prices to fetch your food vary from free for curbside pickup to $12.95 for home delivery. The chains, staffed with employees trained to choose the best products for the orders, left, say they are offering the online option because the demand is there. Reporter Audrey Dutton explains how it works. DEPTH, 1C

Summer keeps floating by

Michael Deeds: Is summer really almost halfway over? Noooo! Deeds admits that he takes Boise for granted — and tries to atone with eight Boise must-do activities in summer. (Like floating that Boise River!)
Food & Drink: Check out a restaurant review of Horsewood's Kitchen, a new Caldwell destination. Plus, find out about a new eatery that has opened in the same building as a Boise brewery — and get updates on two other breweries that have delayed their openings.
Movies: “Jason Bourne,” the latest action thriller starring Matt Damon, delivers everything that fans expect. Plus, reviews of four other movies.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION

Upbeat Clinton: We'll 'rise to the challenge'

TOM GRALISH Tribune News Service

Recognizing her place in history and acknowledging that America is at a crossroads, Hillary Clinton officially accepted the nomination as the Democrats' presidential candidate Thursday night and said it's time “to decide whether we're going to work together so we can all rise together.” Before going into detail about many policy proposals she's had over the past year, Clinton said that “powerful forces” are trying to pull the country apart. She also made specific reference to the dark tone of the Republicans' convention last week and said she'd be a steady hand leading the nation, unlike Donald Trump. “A man you can bait with a tweet is not a man we can trust with nuclear weapons,” she said. NEWS, 6A
